VOL. XXVII.—FOURTEENTH YEAR

RICHMOND, CONTRA COSTA COUNTY, CAL.—WEDNESDAY, JUNE 2, 1915

NUMBER 109.

FOUR ARE INDICTED FOR ELECTION INTIMIDATION

RICHMOND PIONEER DIES TODAY

Mrs. Johanna Dooling for more than 45 years a resident of the Harbor Center tract, where the present city hall now stands, and a pioneer of this county, died today at her home at 1915 Nevin avenue, having but a few days ago celebrated her sixty-seventh birthday.

Mrs. Dooling was a native of Ireland and the wife of the late Peter Dooling, a pioneer dairyman and rancher of this section of the county.

In the early days when San Pablo was the chief town of importance about this section of the county and Richmond was undreamed of, Dooling's several thousand head of cattle used to roam over what are now the main streets of this city, while the site where the present city hall stands was formerly occupied by the Dooling home.

The deceased is survived by the following children: Three daughters, Mrs. A. O. Hellwig, Mrs. Katie D. Hopkins and Mrs. E. Saville of Burlingame, and three sons, John J. P. C. and James A. Dooling.

The funeral is to be held from St. Mark's church Saturday morning at 10:00 o'clock, following which the remains will be carried by automobile to St. Mary's cemetery in Oakland where interment is to take place.

SAVES BOY'S LIFE, NOW MAY LOSE HIS OWN

Joseph Hackett, automobile painter, who achieved considerable fame recently for the heroic manner in which he parted with a large amount of skin to be grafted on the face and hands of a youth burned in an oil explosion and who was a prominent witness at the sensational trial of James Haggerty, sentenced to six years in San Quentin penitenti-

Mechanics Bank Effects Entire Reorganization

HULANSKI LANUS TERMINAL PROJECT

F. J. Hulaniski, editor and publisher of the "Thinkograph," a San Francisco magazine, who has recently returned home from an extended visit in the Middle and Atlantic States, brings home the pleasing intelligence that he has interested capital in a water and rail terminal project which is likely to mean a great deal to the future of Richmond.

Hulaniski has pledged the Record-Herald to secrecy regarding the location of the proposed terminal site, but it is on the Richmond water front and its exact location does not matter so long as the people here will receive the benefit.

Mr. Hulaniski declares that he knows the men at the head of the project well and has known them for the past twenty years or more; that they have plenty of money for the work and that they are going to be here within the next few months to inspect the ground and if everything turns out as represented to them they will at once go ahead with the project.

The idea is to build something similar to the Bush Terminal in New York—not on such an elaborate scale at the present time, but sufficiently large to meet the requirements now and they will be enlarged as business warrants. The men at the head of the company have the money and all they want to know is that there is room for such an enterprise here and that the property can be secured as a reasonable figure. This last has been assured and all that is left now is for the final closing up of the deal which is confidently expected immediately following the visit here of the head of the concern within the next few weeks.

any for robbery, is today unconscious at the county hospital with a portion of his skull gone.

Hackett submitted to the trephining of his skull last evening, the operation being performed by Dr. E. W. Merrithew.

The operation resulted from injuries received in an auto accident several months ago on San Pablo avenue near the Stag roadhouse.

MANY LARGE CAPITALISTS ON DIRECTORATE BOARD

The reorganization of the Mechanics Bank of this city which was consummated today and the injection of much new outside capital into the affairs of that pioneer institution means much to the business interests of this city. It brings to us two large capitalists who have not hitherto been directly interested in a banking way in Richmond, although one of them has been a booster for Richmond and owns a great deal of property here. The Record-Herald refers to E. M. Downer, the Pinole and Crockett banker, and Mr. J. F. Carlston, president of the Central National Bank and the Central Savings Bank of Oakland.

At the meeting of the stockholders of the Mechanics Bank here today the following officers were elected: President, John H. Nicholl; vice president, J. F. Carlston; second vice president and manager, E. M. Downer; cashier, W. L. Ballenger; assistant cashier, George Lee and H. A. Johnston, E. M. Tilden, E. H. Griffin, F. J. Brooks and R. J. Tyson, president of the Seaboard National Bank, directors.

Of the old officers of the bank only two have retired and these are Fred C. Schram and T. H. Moore. Both of these gentlemen have been foremost in the affairs of the Mechanics Bank in years gone by and this is especially true of Mr. Schram, who was one of the pioneers in the organization of the institution. Both are good men and the officers of the bank were greatly disappointed when they tendered their resignations at the meeting today.

It is needless to dwell on the financial stability of the Mechanics Bank under its reorganization. John H. Nicholl, who has been identified with the Bank of Richmond until recently is one of the foremost capitalists in the bay section of California and the entire state. He alone controls upward of five million dollars. Carlston, as president of the Central National Bank and Central Savings Bank of Oakland is the guardian of upwards of $24,000,000. Downer has another million or more, while Johnston, Ballenger, Lee, Tilden, Griffin, Brooks and Tyson are all large capitalists.

Every officer of the Mechanics Bank will be active in the affairs of the institution. There will be no drones and each of them are large investors in its capitalization. E. M. Downer, the new manager, will divide his time between his banking interests at Pinole and Crockett and Richmond. He expects to be in Richmond at least half of the time.

W. L. Ballenger as above noted is going to hold the office of cashier and there is none more capable to discharge the arduous duties of that position and with George Lee, formerly assistant cashier of the Bank of Richmond as his assistant the administrative affairs of the bank will be well attended to.

MANY PROTEST ROAD TAX PROJECT SUPERVISORS RESERVE DECISION

There is a general opinion among those who journeyed to the county seat yesterday to voice their sentiments regarding the plan of the supervisors to levy a 25 cent additional tax for road purposes in the county that the members of the board of supervisors are like the old German justice who said that he would reserve his decision, but when it was given he intended to pronounce the defendant guilty.

The supervisors listened to the many objections made to the proposed levy from the taxpayers, but it is evident that they are going to make the levy, regardless of what the people may say or do. This they can do, according to the opinion of District Attorney T. D. Johnston.

Many people from the First Supervisorial District went to Martinez yesterday to protest against the tax increase and they voiced their sentiments vehemently and loudly. They declared that it would be unjust for the supervisors to take the money away from the people of Richmond and spend it all in the upper end of the county, but the supervisors stick to the argument that one end of the state highway will come this way and that somebody had promised that Richmond would turn in and build asphalt roads for the farmers of the East End in compensation thereof. That is all there is to the matter. The tax will be levied unless an injunction intervenes and that is not at all likely. But the supervisors have reserved their decision until some future time.

GIRL'S SMILE WINS LICENSE FROM DEPUTY

Just as the deputy county clerk of Oakland was about to close his office last evening, a young couple rushed up to him and between gasps for breath informed him that they would like to secure a marriage license.

The deputy county clerk hesitated for a few moments and was on the point of refusing when he happened to note the sad expression in the face of the intended bride and not caring to hurt the girl's feelings, he returned to his office and made out the necessary papers.

When it came time for both to attach their signatures to the marriage document the girl whose winsome looks had won the license, signed herself as H. Pansey Cain, 23 years of age, Richmond. The impatient groom signed, Will E. W. King, 25 years of age, Fresno.

PETILLON, WILDCRUBE, WILLIAMS AND KENNEDY CHARGED WITH FELONY BY GRAND JURY—BENCH WARRANTS ISSUED FOR ARREST OF QUARTET.

Attorney Henry J. Wildgrube, with offices in the Pillow building, James Kennedy, a potter, employed at the Pacific Sanitary manufacturing plant, Richard Williams, a bricklayer, and W. F. Petillon, candidate for the office of postmaster, were indicted by the E. B. Anderson Grand Jury at Martinez late this afternoon, following an all day session by its members in which more than twenty witnesses were examined.

The four so-called union labor men are charged with having attempted to intimidate the votes of certain saloon men at a meeting held prior to the general election at which time it is alleged that threats of violence were used by the indicted men to bring about the success of their candidates for city councilmen.

The main witnesses to testify against the so-called union labor leaders were E. S. Brown, manager of the Imperial hotel; H. D. Mason, proprietor of the Richmond Ice Co. and John Hanson, brewery agent.

Bench warrants were immediately issued following the Grand Jury's dictum which were placed in the hands of Sheriff R. H. Veale to be served as soon as he can reach this city.

All of the four men indicted have taken an active interest in labor affairs in this city and have posed on numerous occasions as leaders of the various unions and building trades council.

It is also alleged that the most startling testimony of the day as given to the members of the Grand Jury was that of James Snee, a labor candidate at the recent election for the office of city councilman.

NO DECISION YET IN THE CITY HALL INJUNCTION

The matter of removing the city hall which was temporarily stopped by an injunction issued to William Pennington, is today being threshed out before Superior Judge A. B. McKenzie in Martinez.

City Attorney D. J. Hall and Attorney Lee D. Windrum are representing the city in the matter, a decision on which is not expected until tomorrow.

BIDDER'S BID BETTERS RIVALS $100,000,000

Wall street property in New York City, considered to be the most valuable property in the world, did not begin to compare with the bids as made upon a certain lot in block 13 on Scenic avenue by George Fitz and Walter Cooper, two San Francisco realty brokers, at the assessment sale conducted by City Engineer H. D. Chapman a few days ago.

The aim of every bidder at an assessment sale is to secure the smallest portion of the saleable property, hence the yarn.

Cooper and Fitz both represent rival brokerage firms.

Each had to accomplish the task of securing certain pieces of property no matter how deep they had to delve into figures.

When Chapman announced the sale of lot 26, in block 13, both took out their pencils and commenced figuring.

"I'll take five feet on the north-easterly section," stated Fitz.

"I'll take one-sixteenth of five feet on the southeasterly section," replied Cooper.

"Well then, I'll take one one-hundredth of the one-sixteenth," stated Fitz.

"Considering the assessment of the lot at $19.65," stated Fitz, "it behooves me to bid for one one-thousandth of the one one-hundredth part as already taken by you."

Cooper scratched his head. Was he going to let his rival nose him out at the finish, and become the butt of his employer's gibes? Nay, nay. Even though attacks of the city engineer's force did not crack smiles at the superfluous figures which the two were wading through. No, he was going to go one better, and he did. He bid on one sexagettillion of an inch which in value would have made the barren lot worth in the neighborhood of $10,000,000, and he was just about to have his bid bettered when Chapman postponed the sale until next Wednesday.

To Hold Picnic.

The members of the First Baptist church will hold their annual picnic at East Shore park tomorrow afternoon.

At the County Seat.

George Wall, together with Mayor E. J. Garrard, City Attorney D. J. Hall, Attorney T. H. DeLap, W. J. Lane and O. R. Ludwig were visitors at Martinez today.

ITALY'S ENTRANCE INTO THE GREAT EUROPEAN WAR

There may be some who judge Italy as a weakling among the powers, but she brings to the allied cause 1,700,000 of the best trained troops in Europe, and a navy superior to that of Austria. Also she adds another link to the ring of steel around the central empires, adding to the already great difficulty of the Germanic alliance in securing supplies from abroad.

Italian cavalry is counted among the best if not the best of all nations, while the Italian machine guns are said to possess a deadlier efficiency than those of any other nation. Italy also claims close kinship with Rumania, and is likely to induce that biggest Balkan nation to throw her forces to the aid of Russia, by an invasion of Transylvania. That, of course, is conjecture, but the certainty is that Italy provides another front for the Teutonic powers to defend, and their battle lines are already long; so long that it must be increasingly difficult to spare forces from one front for a drive toward another objective.

Concerning Italy's right to enter the conflict on the side of the allies, there will never be any nearer an agreement than there has been as to who was to blame for the war in the first place. Italy claims the triple alliance was violated by Austria when the dual monarchy began an offensive war against Serbia, and the Germanic powers, of course, contend that Italy is treacherous and is entering the war against the alliance in flagrant violation of a binding treaty. And the right or wrong of Italy's entrance no longer seems to matter much, any more than who kicked the lid off hell in the first place. The large fact is that she is in, and due to face her share of grief and glory, of which there seems to be enough for all the many nations involved.

Whether Italy is to be a deciding factor in the conflict must also be answered by future events, but at this time it seems reasonable to expect that Italy should hasten the end. Napoleon met some success in conquering Europe, but, finally, the job proved too large, and he fell before a considerably lesser coalition than that which now confronts the houses of Hapsburg and Hohenzollern.

And the present coalition seems likely to grow instead of weaken. Rumania and Greece and even Bulgaria are likely to break in before the summer passes, but, whether they do or not, the balance now favors the allies if this is to be a war of endurance, as seems probable from the slow progress, or absolute lack of progress on several fronts for several months. Already Austria is drafting men up to fifty years of age, and boys of seventeen.

While the auctioneer has a voice, no doubt, he doesn't go in strong for artistic temperament.

Conceit may help in running a bluff, but both amount to about the same thing when called.

Tradition, however, is no older than some of the other fool stories one hears from time to time.

The employment of the present war of methods of slaughter never dreamed of in former times makes it certain that upon the conclusion of peace an entirely new set of rules of "civilized warfare" will be drawn up and signed, all which of course will be broken when the next war breaks out.

Something is sure to be done about the submarine, and something is equally sure to be done about the use of asphyxiating gases. Both are being given their first trial in actual warfare and both have caused a tremendous fuss to be raised by the nations against which they were used.

There is no likelihood that any serious attempt will be made to bar the submarine entirely, for its efficiency has been too clearly demonstrated in this war. The United States would probably be the last nation to agree to any such rule, for with her enormous stretch of seacoast the submarine is vitally necessary as a defensive weapon. Submarines are comparatively cheap and terribly deadly, and a vast fleet of them could be created for defensive purposes in a short time.

That an effort to prevent the use of submarines against merchant vessels in future wars will be made there can be no doubt. The instance of the Lusitania and the Falaba, to say nothing of others less conspicuous, prove conclusively that this method of attack on merchant vessels means nothing less than the murder of large numbers of non-combatants. The voice of humanity will be heard in no uncertain tones in the attempt to prevent the recurrence of such atrocities. The only trouble about the voice of humanity is that it is rarely heard above the roar of cannon.

The question of asphyxiating gases will doubtless cause a protracted argument. An immense amount of flub-dub has been indulged on this subject, but it has yet to be shown that the gas bomb adds any special horror to war, or does more than cause a decided inconvenience and discomfort to the troops against whom it is used. Its novelty, more than anything else, is responsible for the outcry against it.

After all, the talk of "civilized warfare" is largely a ghastly travesty. Murder is murder, and death is death, in whatever form they appear. The protection of those who have no part in the struggle is the main object to be striven for by the humanitarians of the future.

Some writers really use fountain pens for that purpose, and this is a strange world in several other respects.

The average man can meet flattery many times without recognizing it, if it happens to be aimed at him.

Thomas Hardy, the noted English novelist, is 75 years old today. It is just fifty years since he published his first book, which was by no means a success. His second book, "Desperate Remedies," met with similar failure. His literary reputation was established when he produced "Far From the Madding Crowd" in 1874. Hardy, meanwhile, had made a great reputation as an architect, and had won the prize of the Royal Institute of British Architects. He had sketched and measured old churches now pulled down or altered, and the world of architecture lost one of its best young patrons when Hardy began delving into the literary world. Hardy was born at Dorsetshire on June 2, 1840. He was educated by tutors and was articled to a church architect when he was 16. He studied the languages and cultivated his liking for poetry. From Architecture his mind turned to verse, and from verse he turned later to the novel, wherein he could give expression to his observations of the people about him. He became a

Circles appeared under my eyes and I had no appetite whatever. In less than two weeks I fell off in weight from one hundred and thirty-six pounds to one hundred and eleven. A doctor said I had Bright's disease. It was at this time that I began using Doan's Kidney Pills. The kidney secretions became natural and I had no more pains across my back. RAILROADS WILL ASSUME FULL LIABILITY

WASHINGTON, June 2.—The so-called Cummins Act, prohibiting any limitation of the liability of carrier to a shipper, goes into effect tomorrow throughout the United States, in interstate commerce. Despite the efforts of the carriers to secure an added rate to offset the liability, the freight rates will remain the same, and all provisions on bills of lading restricting liability are cancelled.

The Cummins act was passed in the last hours of the Sixty-Third Congress and was signed by President Wilson on March 4. It was intended to do away with the limited liability clause under which railroads have been receiving shipments, making it obligatory upon the carriers to pay full value for losses. For that purpose it was ordered that the standard uniform bill of lading, which fixes a 100 per cent rate for shipments carried on a released valuation and 110 per cent rate for shipments carried at full liability, should be made illegal. The act was an amendment of the act to regulate commerce.

It is said that under the limited liability clause the railroads have been paying in losses from 1 1/2 to 2 per cent of their freight revenues. Just how much heavier this burden will be under the new law remains to be seen. The shippers who opposed the raising of freight rates to care for the added liability, claimed there was no prospect of any great increase in the burden of the carriers. Careful records of liability losses will be kept by the railroads and other carriers, and if the burden is materially increased, this will be used as an argument for a blanket increase in freight rates, which request was formally refused by a ruling of the Interstate Commerce Commission last month.

The railroad attorneys claimed that the Cummins act carried a joker which would put the burden on the shippers. It was contended by the carriers that the law automatically wiped out the lower rate which had been charged for limited liability transportation, and would force the shippers to pay the 10 per cent extra which had been in force on shipments carried with full liability. But this contention was not sustained by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The fight of the carriers for an increase in rates of ten per cent, to go into effect with the new Cummins law, was one of the most interesting chapters in rate-making. They submitted to the Commission their claim that they were entitled to an increase because of the tariffs already in effect, which provide one rate when the usual bill of lading was used and a 10 per cent higher rate when a shipper rejects that bill and insists upon one of unlimited liability. In rejecting the claim and ruling that the carriers were not entitled to raise their rates, the Commission reported:

"Applying correct rules of interpretation, the Cummins amendment does not automatically bring into effect increased rates. There is nothing in the expressed terms of the act that shows any intent or purpose on the part of Congress to affect in any degree the existing rates charged by carriers for transportation of property. The lawful rates on file at this time, therefore, are the rates providing for the limited liability."

CHIEF LEMOINE APPLIES AXE ON FORCE

Fire Chief Lemoine and his firemen occupied the spotlight during the early minutes of the city council meeting last evening, in that one man refused to accept the position as driver of Truck No. 1, two were discharged for gross negligence and insubordination while one other was hired.

Thomas Mark, a barber, residing at 123 Barrett avenue, is the applicant who refused to accept the position after it had been given him, with no other reason than "he did not care to take it," while Robert Dohrman, part owner in the Richmond Supply and Transfer company, with offices on Richmond avenue, together with Joseph Smith, a carpenter, are the two dismissed from the service as extra men, the new fireman appointed being Bert Wilson.

Dohrman and Smith were flayed by the chief in his report for not having attended a fire on Bishop avenue at an early hour Wednesday morning.

"MARRIED MECHANICS" OF SANTA FE TO PLAY "SINGLE MECHANICS" SAT.

"Married Mechanics" at the Santa Fe shops will on Saturday afternoon at 2:00 o'clock endeavor to wrest the baseball honors away from the "Single Mechanics" hailing from the same place at the First street baseball grounds.

In the "Married Mechanics" line up are many old stars of the diamond, some of whom still retain a touch of agility and a quick eye, while on the opposing side are many young prodigies who show probabilities of developing into Wagner's, Ty Cobb's, "Home run Baker's and various other baseball satellites.

The two teams will line up for the game as follows:

Married Men—Koveck, catcher; Andrews, pitcher; Ribley, first base; Alexander, second base; Blankenship, short stop; Miller, left field; Zimmerman, center field and McCarthy, right field.

NEWS UP TO THE LAST MINUTE

Roumania is reported to have agreed to cede territory in the Dobruja district the work of German emissaries at Sofia.

GENEVA, June 2.—Martial law was proclaimed in Vienna today as a result of unrest because of Austrian defeats. The sternest repressive measures, private dispatches say, are being enforced, as the spirit of revolt is believed dangerous to the dominance of the Hapsburg house and the alliance with Germany.

Wilson's Views Not Altered, Is Belief.

WASHINGTON, June 2.—President Wilson's view of the German-American crisis was not believed here today to have been altered by a conference he held at noon with Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, and it is reported his rejoinder to the German reply to his note on the Lusitania disaster will be ready to go forward tonight or tomorrow.

"WHY, HE BUYS THEN ON CREDIT, MARCIA?"

"At CHERRY'S. And he never pays a high price! It really is one of my greatest comforts to have Frank buy his clothes at CHERRY'S, because it's usually so hard to get a man to spend a big sum all at once on a suit, and Frank simply swears by CHERRY'S INSTALLMENT SYSTEM.

"Marcia, you ought to use your influence on your husband and get him interested in buying his clothes ON CREDIT. I'll tell you!—We'll all go up for a minute Saturday evening. CHERRY'S men's store is at 515 13th street, Oakland, you know, and Frank's new suit will be ready for him then.

"I'll tip Frank off not to say much, but to let your husband look around at the fifty suits on the racks. They will convince him! Especially, when he hears how he can have his pick of the lot by simply paying just a little down and the rest in convenient easy MONTHLY OR WEEKLY INSTALLMENTS."

Grip Left Me With a Cough

If during the winter you had the grip and are still suffering from the after effects, now is the time to get rid of it. Peruna is your remedy.

A Very Bad Cough.

Mrs. S. J. Kountz, 1015 Sevel St., Nashville, Tenn., writes: "I have had a very bad cough nearly all my life. I have taken almost every kind of cough medicine, but none did me much good. I would have spells of coughing that I thought I would cough myself to death. I took Peruna, and last winter and this winter I have had no cough and I know that Peruna cured me."

"I was always thin and delicate, very easy to catch cold, but I am well now and enjoying good health. I feel that I owe it all to Peruna."

A Severe Case of Grip.

Mr. W. S. Brown, R. F. D. 4, Box 82, Rogersville, Tenn., writes: "I recommend Peruna to all sufferers of catarrh, or cough. In the year of 1909 I took a severe case of the grippe. I then took a bad cough remedy. Everybody thought I had consumption. I had taken all kinds of cough remedies, but got no relief."

"I then decided to try Peruna. After taking five bottles my cough stopped and my catarrh was cured. Any one suffering with catarrh in any form I will advise them to take Peruna."

DRUG PLANTS ARE NOT USUALLY PROFITABLE

Although a large amount of money is spent annually for the importations of crude drugs, and the extermination of a number of valuable native drug plants is threatened, government specialists do not believe that the growing of drug plants offers any unusual opportunities for profit to the American farmer. Drug plants are subject to the same diseases and risks as other crops and, in addition, knowledge of the best methods of cultivation and handling is less general than in the case of other and better known crops. In issuing a new bulletin, Farmers' Bulletin 663, "Drug Plants Under Cultivation," the Department of Agriculture, therefore, warns farmers that in order to have the cultivation of drug plants financially successful in this country, the introduction of improved methods and the extensive use of machinery is probably necessary. Under these circumstances the natural tendency will be to increase the production in the interest of economy. The demand for many drug plants, however, is so limited that if large areas are brought under cultivation there is considerable danger of overproduction. Prospective growers are urged, therefore, to acquaint themselves with market conditions before investing any considerable sum of money in this way.

On the other hand, the number of drug plants which may be grown in the United States is large. Many native medicinal plants which are found in their wild state in a few sections have been successfully cultivated in situations far beyond their natural range. In suitable soil and under favorable weather conditions the following plants have done well under cultivation in numerous places in the Central and the Eastern States and, if the difference in climatic conditions is not too great will probably be suitable in other regions:

Anise, Belledonna, Budrock, Caraway, Catnip, Camomille, Conium, Carlander, Digitalis, Dill, Echinacea, Elecampene, Fennel, Henbane, Horehound, Pennyroyal, Sage, Stannum, Tansy, Thyme.

The bulletin already mentioned contains specific instructions for the cultivation of each of these plants and of a number of others. In general, it may be said that many wild medicinal plants are much more difficult to propagate from seeds than species commonly grown in gardens. Moreover, in growing medicinal plants from seed it is much better to start the plants in a greenhouse or hotbed than to sow the seed directly in the field. Under any circumstances, the preparation of the soil is of prime importance.

GERM CARRIERS AMONG ANIMALS ARE DANGEROUS

The medical profession has known for a long time that one of the menaces to which health is exposed is the infectious material often carried and unconsciously expelled by seemingly healthy persons and animals, but the true importance of this fact has begun to receive the wide recognition it merits only in recent years.

Today we know that many persons after recovering from typhoid fever continue to discharge typhoid fever germs from their bodies and that such persons cause numerous cases of typhoid fever unless they are properly controlled, and we know that exposure to diphtheria, even when it does not lead to the development of disease, means that the exposed individual often becomes a carrier of diphtheria germs, which are located in his throat, a region from which they are expelled in a way dangerous to the health of susceptible persons. And we also know that this same problem of seemingly healthy carriers and disseminators of disease germs must be given careful consideration because of its bearing on the health of our domestic animals.

The possibility that animals may become persistent carriers of disease germs is not limited to any one or any kind of disease. For example, if we take three diseases, southern cattle fever, infectious abortion of cattle, and foot-and-mouth disease, we have one which is caused by an animal micro-organism, one by a vegetable micro-organism or a true bacterium, and one by an undistinguished, probably ultramicroscopic organism or a germ too small to be seen, even with the aid of the most powerful microscope. Regarding southern cattle fever, the Bureau of Animal Industry proved some years ago that recovered cattle continue to carry its specific cause in their blood for years, so that the injection of a small quantity of such blood under the skin of a susceptible animal almost invariably causes a typical attack of southern cattle fever. Fortunately, this disease is not transmitted through contact directly from animal to animal; the only known method of transmission under natural conditions is through the agency of the cattle tick. Later the bureau demonstrated that cows affected with abortion disease, long after they have seemingly recovered and resumed the normal production of calves, continue to expel abortion bacilli with their milk. One cow now under observation has continued to discharge such bacilli with her milk without showing a symptom of disease for more than six years. And recently the claim was made by European investigators that animals recovered from foot-and-mouth disease may expel the infectious material of this serious plague as long as eight months later.

There are other diseases of which it is definitely known that seemingly recovered cases remain carriers of their specific causes, but it is unnecessary to speak about them here, as the object of this short article is to call attention to a source of danger in a general way rather than to discuss it in detail. We may say what is true of three infectious diseases, the character and specific causes of which are as dissimilar as those of the three named, must be assumed to be true of all infectious diseases until the contrary is proved; hence, that animals which have recovered from or have been exposed to infectious diseases must be regarded with suspicion. Farmers and animal husbandmen often can avoid serious trouble among their animals by making careful inquiries relative to the history of the animals they contemplate purchasing for introduction into their herds or flocks. The purchase of an animal lacking a clean bill of health from its birth until the time it is offered for sale, or of an animal from a herd or flock in which an infectious disease is known to have occurred, should be regarded as courting trouble.

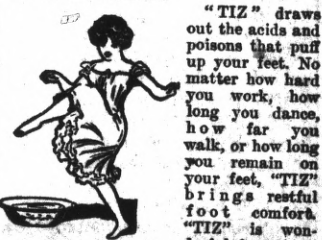

Inasmuch as the papers of Germany print only what the government approves, this talk of our trying to influence public opinion over there is not very impressive.

NOVEL WEDDING IN WASHINGTON SOCIETY

WASHINGTON, June 2.—Miss Madge Pickett Stokes, a Washington society girl, has hit upon a novelty for her wedding today to Mr. R. King Stone. It will be a black-and-white wedding, the first on record. The bride will wear white, as is the custom, and the groom black, in true conventional style. Every decoration at Epiphany Church, where the services will take place at 3 today, will be in white. The bridesmaids will be in white, with black hats. Not a note or suggestion of color will anywhere be seen, not even in the bouquets to be carried. At the Stokes home in Massachusetts Avenue, where the reception will follow, a black velvet rug, woven especially for the occasion will adorn the floor. The groom is the grand-nephew of Dr. Richard Stone, who was President Lincoln's physician.

"TIZ" GLADDENS SORE, TIRED FEET

"TIZ" makes sore, burning, tired feet fairly dance with delight. Away go the aches and pains, the corns, callouses, blisters and bunions.

"TIZ" draws out the acids and poisons that puff up your feet. No matter how hard you work, how long you dance, how far you walk, or how long you remain on your feet, "TIZ" brings restful foot comfort. "TIZ" is wonderful for tired, aching, swollen, smarting feet. Your feet just tingle for joy; shoes never hurt or seem tight. Get a 25 cent box of "TIZ" now from any drug store or department store. End foot torture forever—wear smaller shoes, keep your feet fresh, sweet and happy.

Whirlpool

DISHWASHER
HAS DONE FOR ME

after 3000 years of kitchen drudgery. The much-needed rest of the housewife has at last arrived. The invention of the Whirlpool Sanitary Dish-Washer saves healthy, time and nerves and preserves hands and complexion. At last!

Woman's Emancipation
is here. A delight and an indispensable aid to those who have already used them. Just six minutes to clean, polish and dry the china, glassware and silver of a dinner for eight people. No contact with hot water, steam or hot soapy suds. Self-cleaning, sanitary, no yeast used. Small in size, easily lifted and carried. Strongly built of stamped metal.

Sent prepaid, returnable at our expense within ten days, if not exactly as represented.

It has a capacity sufficient to wash at one time all the dishes of the average family, yet is so light and portable that it can be easily moved from place to place.

The movement of the handle forward and backward rotates the propeller in the bottom of the washer, which shakes the hot soapy water with a swirling effect through and over all the dishes, forcibly attacking them at all points, and cleaning them with absolute perfection on all sides. The dishes are completely washed in less than one minute's time and the washer works so easily that a child can operate it.

Turning down the small lever at the top of the washer, opens drain valve and discharges the water in a few seconds. The dishes are then rinsed and sterilized by pouring a dishpan of clear boiling water through the lid and turning the handle about thirty seconds. The rinsing operation automatically cleans the washer bowl, which always remains in an absolutely sanitary condition.

"COURTESY" IS KEYNOTE OF CIRCULAR

George H. Harris, General Superintendent of the San Francisco-Oakland Terminal railways, has sent out to the thousands of employees of the company a circular on "Courtesy." Superintendent Harris believes that if the men who come in contact with the public will act courteously at all times it will be appreciated and result in better service and a corresponding increase in patronage. There are people, of course, on whom courtesy is lost. They do not appreciate gentlemanly treatment and therefore when such is found the only way is to get along with them in the best manner possible, but as a rule the people like good manners and gentlemanly treatment from street railway conductors and motormen and will always respond in kind. The following is the circular referred to: To Motormen, Conductors and Collectors:

During the past few months we have received a number of complimentary letters from our patrons relative to the courteous treatment received by them at the hands of the carmen. Many others have personally spoken to the officers of the company regarding the courtesy of the carmen.

It is needless for me to say that such expressions from those whom we serve are most gratifying to the officers of the company, and you are to be highly commended for so conducting yourselves in the performance of your work as to bring about these good results.

The remark has been made that this condition has been brought about largely by the "Jitney" competition—be that as it may; there is no other one thing that will do more to build up cordial relations between the public and the company and its employees than courtesy. This has been pretty clearly proven by the results of the recent referendum pertaining to "Jitney" regulation.

These results have been so satisfactory to the company that I feel you should be advised of it, and that this, my second pamphlet on "Courtesy" will help to bring about even better relations between the public and ourselves.

You are constantly in touch with the riding public and naturally personify the company to those with whom you come in contact.

It is on you that the passenger places the responsibility for a safe trip, and from whom he seeks information as to his destination, the location of places of interest, public buildings, etc.

The passenger expects courtesy from you and if he gets it, the company and yourselves rise in his estimation. He leaves the car with a good impression. Your courtesy has made his ride a pleasure.

Should you be gruff or discourteous, the pleasure of the passenger's ride has been marred; the company will probably lose his friendship and you are driving business from the company.

All of us get "out of sorts" sometimes; if we didn't we wouldn't be human, but in cases where pleasantness is so vital to our best interests, we can force ourselves out of a snout.

You necessarily come in contact with all classes of people, some of whom are irritable and impolite, but nothing will win for you the moral support of the other passengers more quickly than by being courteous.

Courtesy costs nothing and will do more than anything else to lighten your work, and remember that you cannot merely act courteous; you must feel courteous.

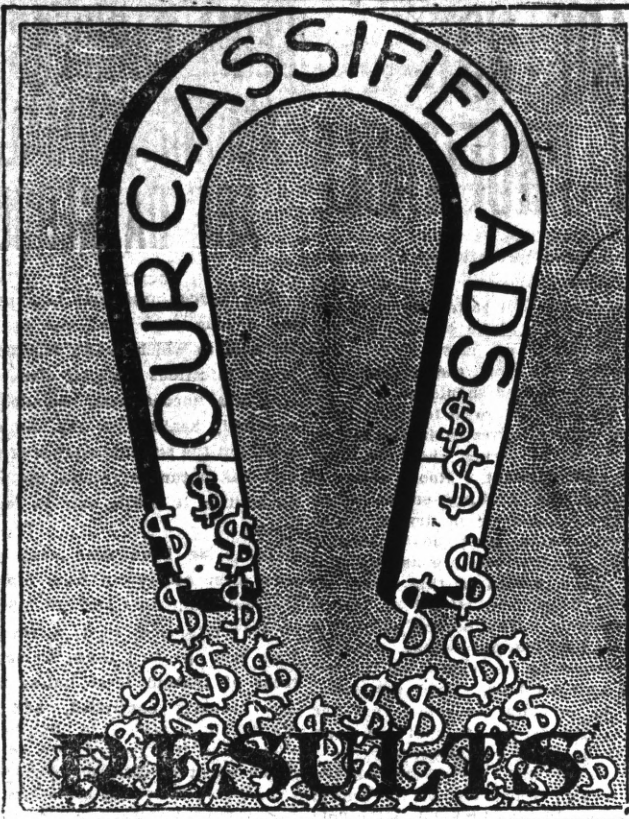

GEO. H. HARRIS,
General Superintendent.

HERB DOCTOR MAKES SPECIAL OFFER TO DISCOURAGED SUFFERERS

MANY HAVE BEEN CURED BY THESE WONDERFUL HERBS.

To convince the most doubtful, we will give to any one mentioning this announcement, a seven days' treatment of herbs at half price. At the end of this trial you will be able to judge for yourself just how efficient this herb treatment is. We have letters of thanks for cures on almost every known disease. These letters from local and out-of-town sufferers are open for your inspection at our office.

Dear Doctors Chan and Kong:

I wish to write and add my testimonial to the many you have already received. When you diagnosed my case of rheumatism correctly by merely feeling my pulse I was indeed surprised, but the remarkable results which followed your treatment were even more surprising, as I had been treating with other doctors without relief, and they all said it would take five years to cure me, if it could be done at all.

Being a self-supporting widow I was heart sick, as I saw no hope ahead. The day I came to see you at the urgent request of a friend who knew of your good work, I had to go out and buy a large pair of shoes, as my feet were so swollen from rheumatism that I could not walk in ordinary shoes.

After six days of your herb treatment I had no swelling, and a day or two later I walked nine blocks with no trouble, and the swelling did not return. I never before had any hope that I would be cured, as I believed what other doctors told me, so you may imagine my delight, at having my rheumatism cured, I remain

Yours very truly,
(Signed) MRS. E. ALLARD,

THE WORD HELL.

A Little Book That Contains Some Startling Information.

A little book selling at only five cents, postpaid, is having a very wide circulation—running up into the millions. It contains some very startling information regarding the meaning of the word Hell. It claims to demonstrate, both from the Hebrew and the Greek of our Bible, that Hell is not a place of eternal torment, but merely another name for the Tomb of the Grave, the State of Death. It affects to show that man was not redeemed from a far-off place of eternal torture, but that the Scriptures proving that he was redeemed from the Grave at the cost of his Redeemer's Life and that the Scriptural Hope, both for the Church and the World, is a resurrection hope based upon the death and resurrection of Jesus. The book is certainly worth the reading. The information it furnishes is certainly valuable, far beyond its trifling cost. Order it at once from the Bible and Tract Society, 17 Hicks Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

RICHMOND CORPORATION ENTERS FIELD OF TITLE INSURANCE.

Contra Costa realty transfers are to be safe-guarded against possible financial loss through fraud or defective title by legal reserve Title Insurance Policies guaranteed by the Insurance Department of the State of California.

$100,000.00 legal reserve is deposited with the State Insurance Commissioner assuring complete protection for every Title Insurance Policy delivered by the RICHMOND ABSTRACT & TITLE CO., Inc., who are financed to provide this guarantee on all Unlimited Certificates of Title issued by them in the San Pablo Rancho.

Title Insurance is the most recent efficiency development in the Abstracting Business. It is comprehensive in its benefits, insuring against forged documents and all possible defects of title.

The following local case in point will interest every property owner:

Suit to foreclose on a mortgage and two notes, one for $150 and the other for $100, the first of which appears on the records of the County to have been satisfied a year ago, has been filed in the Superior Court by J. R. Mitchell, former Mayor of Woodland against Henry McNeil, Hudson Grant, as administrator of the estate of Mary McNeil, A. J. Bradford, Anna B. Cutchin, Anna M. Gaylord and Fred L. Bice.

The satisfaction of the mortgage was recorded on February 10, 1914 and is signed by J. R. Mitchell, while the name of Charles Edelman, a notary of San Francisco is attached to the oath. Mitchell's attorney Beryl Gregg who filed the suit, asserts that the satisfaction is a forgery.

Some time ago the McNeil estate sued Anna M. Cutchin and A. J. Bradford for cancellation of a deed and to quiet title, claiming that the name of the late Mary E. McNeil who died July 26, 1914, was forged and that Bradford who derived his title by deed from Anna Cutchin, has no claim to the property which lies in Richmond.

Mitchell, it is said, sought to foreclose on the notes and when his attorney had the records in Martinez searched he discovered that a satisfaction had been recorded and that from the records as they now stand a foreclosure suit would be out of order.

Had J. R. Mitchell insured his title for $1000.00 by purchasing a Title Insurance Policy for that amount at a cost of $25.00, he would not have been compelled to endure the uncertainty, worry and expense of recovering the money that he had originally loaned up on the property.

Our company would have paid the money to Mr. Mitchell ten days after receiving notice of his loss, if he had carried a Title Insurance Policy.

Probabilities now are that Attorney's fees in attempting to collect the principal will cost all of the money originally loaned by Mr. Mitchell.

A Title Insurance Policy covers every possible contingency of fraud or loss through clouded title. Its protection is absolute.

"I am a painter and paperhanger by trade, consequently up and down ladders. About two years ago my left knee became lame and sore. It pained me at nights at times till I could not rest, and I was contemplating giving up my trade on account of it when I chanced to think of Sloan's Liniment. I had never tried it before, and I am glad to state that less than one 25c. bottle fixed me up apparently as good as ever."—Charles C. Campbell, Florence, Texas.

NEW POLICEMAN ASSUMES HIS UNIFORM

Policeman Otis Depew today appeared at police headquarters and handed over his club to Chief of Police Walker, following the recommendation of his dismissal by the city council last evening, after three years of active service.

Depew was assigned the duties of a policeman during the regime of James P. Arnold, going into active service as a patrolman on July 1st, 1912.

Chief of Police Walker in his report as made to the city council last evening asked for the dismissal of Depew for the betterment of the present police force.

B. V. Shirley, former Standard Oil employee, is the new "copper" who is to take Depew's place.

ENGINEER CHAPMAN WILL HANDLE SPRINKLERS

"For better efficiency in our street sprinkling department," stated Councilman G. A. Follett at the city council meeting last evening, "we should have faster horses, and not 'plugs.'"

It was unanimously decided by the council board to leave the entire matter of street sprinkling in the hands of City Engineer H. D. Chapman, instead of putting it up for bids as has been the policy in the past.

That the work can and should be done by private contract was the opinion of all councilmen present, in that the city engineer can procure better stock and better service for the street sprinkling work.

SELF DEFENSE IS THE PLEA OF SLAYER

NEWARK, N. J., June 2.—That the killing of Floyd McFarland, the famous bicycle rider, at the Newark Velodrome on April 17th, was an accident, and that the screwdriver which penetrated McFarland's brain was issued in self defense during a row, will be the defense of David Lautenberg, who faces trial tomorrow on a manslaughter charge in causing the death of McFarland.

Lautenberg lives in Brooklyn, and held a confectionary franchise in the Velodrome, of which McFarland was manager. The accused man was intoxicated, but allowed bail in $2,500. His trial will be before Judge Osborne.

The injury from which McFarland died was a fracture of the skull from a screwdriver wielded by Lautenberg. From statements made to the police by the accused man, and the witnesses of the fight, the two men were engaged in an argument over the placing of an advertising sign over Lautenberg's candy booth, when McFarland struck the candy man. Lautenberg swung his left hand, which grasped a steel screw-driver and struck the manager on the side of the head. The sharp point pierced the skull and entered his brain. He died a few hours later without regaining consciousness.

According to County Physician McKenzie who examined McFarland, that part of the dead man's skull just back of the ear was abnormally thin, and had the blow been delivered an inch away it would not have been fatal.

McFarland was known to sporting men in all parts of the country. As a bicycle rider he was one of the champions in his day. He was only 39 when the fatal affair occurred.

IS RICHMOND AN IMMORAL CITY? DISTRICT ATTORNEY SAYS "YES!"

For two solid hours last evening at the city council meeting, a district attorney, a chief of police, a city attorney and a city councilman discussed pro and con the extent of vice and immorality in Richmond.

District Attorney T. D. Johnston informed the city council, and the large number of listeners present, that "mortality amongst younger set in Richmond had been obliterated and that an epidemic of vice in its many contagious forms was sweeping the city." He flayed the police, and the city council members for their lax methods used in suppressing the social evil wave which was gaining day by day. He spoke in a strong and forceful manner of a dance hall at East Shore park where young girls of tender ages are lured to their ruin by older men, where a hole in a fence permits them to come out into a beer garden.

He spoke of a skating rink in operation on Eighth street, between Macdonald and Bissell avenues where to the tune of an electric piano, they go astray, and to substantiate his statements concerning the rink cited the case of Jesse Tingstrom, "lovelorn dancing teacher," now awaiting sentence in the county jail at Martinez for the attempted kidnapping of a fifteen-year-old girl.

Each moment brought more and more urgent request that something be done from the mouth of the District attorney until it became unbearable to Chief of Police Walker and he jumped to his feet and informed the county official that "he had better attend to other places of ill repute about the county, instead of meddling with affairs in Richmond."

"That may be true, too," exclaimed Johnston, "but the district attorney's office has had two of the vilest cases ever heard of in the state, and both were from Richmond, in which the testimony was so sordid that it became sickening, and I want to state that we do not want a re-occurrence of this in the future."

Chief Walker replied that the first he had known of the matter was when he had heard the district attorney making his statements and was considerably surprised at not having received any complaints.

East Shore park was mentioned by District Attorney Johnston as being unfit for any girl to go to without a chaperon, as was the skating rink, together with several cafes. City Attorney D. J. Hall stated that on several occasions he had seen fit to drop in at the East Shore Park Pavilion and was shocked at the "vile dances" indulged in by young girls.

"But what are you going to do?" continued Hall. "These same girls are accompanied to the dance by their mother or father who sit and watch them locked in the embrace of some mature man and say nothing. It's the fault of the mothers and fathers that so much of this social evil is going on in Richmond today, and not the fault of the police or authorities. I believe that the moral reform movement should begin at the home and not at some public dance."

"Well," replied Johnston, "if the city does not intend to take some action on the matter the District Attorney's office will, and it may prove quite unpleasant work."

"Richmond is immoral and its younger generation is going to the dogs fast."—District Attorney T. D. Johnston.

"I have lived here for fourteen years and find it about the same now as it was when I came to town, at which time it was regarded as a Utopia."—Councilman G. A. Follett.

"If the district attorney would pay as much attention to resorts and places of notorious character operating in other parts of the county as he does to those in this city, we would be much better off."—Chief of Police Charles H. Walker.

"The actions of the younger set at dances held at East Shore park is something disgraceful and something should be done by the police department to prohibit their furtherance."—City Attorney D. J. Hall.

"It looks as though everyone is trying to reform somebody else while no one fellow attempts the reformation of himself," stated Councilman Follett. "I have resided in this city for more than fourteen years and have yet to see things as sordid as pictured by our District Attorney."

The matter will in all probabilities be threshed out at the committee meeting to be held in the city council chambers tonight.
